

Japan Collection

Francesca Camilleri

Creative cut and make

This collection was inspired by Japanese culture. I was inspired by all levels of Japanese culture such as traditional wear and clothing, martial arts and sport, modern day technology and gaming culture such as nintendo's super Mario characters. I was also inspired by modern day street style in Tokyo and the interpretation of Japanese culture abroad just as the aesthetic created by a Japanese takeaway restaurant in new York in London.

From this project I realised more my passion for lingerie and more transparent clothing. I feel that this collection combines some classic and rational aspects of Japanese culture such as the classic common shape and prints and fabrics as well as the Geisha in terms of illustration with hair and makeup. This was combined with the more liberal and rebellious street style of the Tokyo scene and a playful element was introduced with the nintendo character designs and prints. This collection has street style element and an edge to it that is still sophisticated but a little trashy.
